Theme: Inter–disciplinary research, new perspectives and working together Understanding and bridging disciplinary as well as cultural boundaries in Finance, Risk and Accounting research.

This conference aims to overcome the often self–imposed paradigmatic boundaries and reflexive isomorphisms of the individual fields, and invites fresh perspectives. Despite its methodological and disciplinary openness, it does so with a strong focus on academic rigour and robustness. All abstracts and articles will be strictly double–blind peer reviewed, and there will be longer discussion sections during the conference in which authors can discuss their research in–depth with a small group of interested scholars.

1. Quantitative Finance and Risk Modelling
2. Economics
