"Reducing Vulnerability through Adaptation"

Unique Conferences Canada and International Center for Research and Development wish to announce the Sixth International Conference on Climate Change Adaptation 2017 (CAA2017) which will be held on 16-17 September 2017 at the University of Toronto, Canada. You are invited to join this important event as a presenter or a listener.

CCA2017 is a 2 Day interactive international forum which creates an opportunity for academics, practitioners and PhD students to come together, review their research findings, exchange ideas, and discuss emerging issues in Climate Change Adaptation.

Papers of the registered participants will be published in print with a Canadian ISBN number and will be forwarded for indexing.

You are invited to submit an abstract to this important conference and join this global adaptation community.
